Vecima Networks and the Waverider Product Line

To whom it may concern, Sea Star Solutions Ltd. has been using and installing the Waverider products since 2005.

The new LMS8000 and the prior LMS4000 series equipment have proven their worth in some very challenging environments. Both over water and in heavily forested communities of coastal British Columbia. Having tested a number of other products in various frequency ranges, the Waverider products proved more versatile and functional in areas where others simply did not work.

Since Vecima Networks adopted the Waverider products, I have been very pleased with their commitment to improving the technology and their support for the legacy equipment in the field. Our relationship with Vecima Networks has been very positive and helpful. With their support I look forward to using the Waverider equipment into the foreseeable future.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or comments.
